

This is the main menu of the game. All blue rectangles are buttons which could be clicked by the player.

This is the new game set up screen that appears when the player clicks on the “New Game” button.

- This is the gameboard which is displayed after the user fills in all the required fields and clicks on “Start”.
- All blue rectangles are buttons which could be clicked by the player.
- The other coloured rectangles represent the castles (and eventually) the empires of each of the players.
- The small coloured circles represent the 2 king meeples provided to each player at the start of the game.

This is the screen which appears if the player directly clicked on the “Instructions” button from the main menu.
